As a Trustmark company since 1997, CoreSource has retained its agility and flexibility while benefiting from the extensive resources of our parent company, Trustmark Companies. Trustmark affords us the necessary investment dollars to grow and ensure stability of our business. While others made decisions to exit the market when reform was imminent, Trustmark invested millions of dollars in our technology to bring us to where you need us to be today, post-reform. Additionally, their investments in companies such as HealthFitness has allowed us to offer our clients integrated wellness and advocacy services that are key to the success of today's benefit programs. The support of Trustmark Companies has allowed CoreSource to continue offering our customers the Personal, Flexible, and Trusted services they have come to expect from CoreSource.
